Concurrent reviews lead to decreased time-to-revenue and a strong foundation for denial prevention

Concurrent reviews are a key part of an organization providing high-quality patient care and strengthening an efficient and accurate denial prevention strategy. The process not only ensures proper admission of patients but offers a unique opportunity for an organization to decrease time to revenue and increase reimbursement.

According to industry experts, healthcare practices should aim for a 90% or higher clean claim rate. Delegating concurrent reviews to a clinically experienced partner — whether in whole or in part — not only increases the likelihood of clean claim submissions, but also relieves pressure on nursing staff while maximizing financial benefits.

Advent Health Partners works as an extension of your team to successfully complete concurrent reviews, reinforcing your organization's denial prevention strategy and allowing your clinical team to get back to doing what they do best: patient care.

Why use Advent for concurrent reviews?

Advent's team becomes an extension of your team.

Our team steps into your existing workflow, ready to start immediately. We're experts in the use of both InterQual® and Milliman Care Guidelines (MCG).

Our offerings are flexible to your needs.

Advent is able to accommodate specific times, days, or review types to eliminate gaps in concurrent review coverage.

We guarantee our work and will work a claim to completion.

In the unlikely event of a denial, Advent defends our work throughout the life of the claim — at no additional cost.
